Embutidos "El Cigarrero" is a family company based in Archena (Murcia). Since 1940, we produce dried hams and traditional charcuterie from Murcia by carefully selecting the raw materials and following handicraft production processes. In recent times, we have decided to show these craft products on the Internet and to deliver them to the homes of other regions of the country and abroad. For these reasons our website, made in family like our products, is available in four languages: Spanish, Portuguese, French and English. Being probably the first description in some of those languages of our regional products, trying to introduce our rich and original regional cuisine and the unique surroundings of the Ricote Valley in the great showcase of Internet.
